LIVES OF TWO MEN ENDED
BY POISON AND SHOOTING

James J. Murphy Commits Suicide with Revolver
Watchman at Navy Yard—M. Carpenter
Takes Carbolic Acid.

Evidently dependent over ill health, James J. Murphy, thirty-seven years old, a watchman in the Navy Department, committed suicide yesterday afternoon about 3:45 o'clock in his room at 806 1/2 I street northwest, by shooting himself in the right temple with a .32-caliber Iver-Johnson revolver. He died almost immediately.

Murphy had not been at work for the last two weeks and had seemed melancholy for several days, refusing to leave his room. Yesterday afternoon F. D. Long, a carpenter, who, with his wife, occupies an adjoining room, heard pistol shots and on investigating found Murphy lying across his bed with blood flowing from a slight wound in his head and a hole in his right temple. The ambulance from the Emergency Hospital was summoned, but when it arrived the physician said that the man was dead. It is supposed that he died almost instantly.

Murphy, as far as is known, had no relatives in this country. He came here from Ireland and served in the Spanish-American war, at the close of which he obtained a position as watchman in the Navy Department. He had formerly lived at 1596 Sixth street northwest, but moved to the I street house on May 8 last.

The police advance the theory that he was demented at the time of the shooting, basing their opinion on a letter found written on a piece of yellow paper which was found on a trunk. The letter reads:

"If you see the little girl and the cat on the window, I am going to shoot her through the eye—the left eye. This will show you how I hit her. Do not think I am scared."

In the room was found a watchman's badge with the number 44 on it, and papers disclosing he was a member of the Woodmen of the World. He was also a member of Richard J. Haden Camp, No. 2, U. S. W. V. A beneficial certificate of the Woodmen of the World, was made out in favor of Daniel Murphy, Bortis, County Carlow, Ireland.

His clothes, which were neatly arranged in a trunk and on racks in the closet, were of good quality. Boarders said he was a neat dresser.

Suicide of Virginian.
M. Carpenter, sixty-five years old, of Clarendon, Va., committed suicide Thursday night or early yesterday morning. He went to the boarding house of T. G. Stoner, 206 Seventh street southwest, about 10 o'clock Thursday evening and registered as M. Carpenter, Clarendon, Va. About 9 o'clock yesterday morning the porter was sent to the room to wake him. The door was open and Carpenter seemed to be sleeping, so the porter departed. When Carpenter did not come down at noon the proprietor told the porter to awaken him. The porter went into the room and found a two-ounce bottle of carbolic acid lying on the body. The contents had been drained and the cork replaced.

LUXURY AND LEMONADE ARE NOT FOR SENATE

Wave of Economy Has Senators Engulfed.

A wave of economy, pitiful, relentless, and cruel, is engulfing the United States Senate. Already it has borne away the daily mineral water service in the various committee rooms. The famous medicine chest, which for years has relieved Senatorial headaches and staved off Senatorial chills with its capsules and powders, is slated to be next to go. A typewriter which a Senator of yore could have in two hours from the Sergeant-at-Arms' office for the asking now must form the subject of a full-fledged meeting of the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate.

The above-mentioned committee of five members has the Senate in a vis-à-vis grasp. Nobody—and especially the committee on committees—ever intended the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate to be anything but a tame and ladylike affair. It was made up with this in view, and, according to the time-honored rule, whereby there were just enough Republicans to outvote the Democrats. However, in this instance it might just as well have been made up of three Democrats and two Republicans, for Senator Bristow, of Kansas, on the majority side, has decided to train with the two Democrats of the committee, Senators Clarke, of Arkansas, and Williams, of Mississippi. The result has been that a beautiful combine in the name of economy has been formed and Senators Briggs and Dillingham—the former being the honored but helpless chairman of the committee—are powerless.

No More Senatorial Lemonade.
Senators Bristow, Clarke, and Williams have started in with ravenous gusto and are having the finest sport in the world with the Senate's extravaganzas. They have cut the bottled mineral water squarely off at the corks. They have given it out plainly, too, that the lemonade days are over; that no matter how stifling the weather, the great cooling draughts, leaded thoroughly and juiced with scores of lemons, will not again be served in the cloak rooms. It now requires the severest sort of fortitude for a Senator to procure an extra typewriter, a new piece of furniture, or a set of curtains for his office. Heretofore the Sergeant-at-Arms supplied whatever was ordered, and the committee had no right to interfere, but now, controlled, acted upon his reports. Under the new ruling the committee must be summoned to sit every time a person files an order which approximates $100 in value.

Medicine Closet Closed.
The dreadful decree that the medicine closet in the Sergeant-at-Arms' office must be forever abolished and that Senators who need the curative influences that drugs can supply must send out and purchase what they need was pronounced yesterday by Senator Bristow. Bills for a fresh assortment of pills, capsules, plasters, liniments, bandages, and lotions were at hand in the committee. Despite the appeals of Senators Briggs and Dillingham that the Senate medicine cabinet was an institution almost as time-honored as the Senate snuff boxes themselves, Messrs. Bristow, Clarke, and Williams refused the cruel edict. The matter is hanging fire temporarily, but Sergeant-at-Arms Randall, having had his experiences with the new committee already, is looking for a likely place to dispose of some drug shop.

Will Barber Shop Go?
Whether the economy strike of the new committee is to extend to Senatorial free shaves in the palatial barber shops in the Senate office building no one can say. There are rumors that the cruelty of the new-born aggregation of power will extend that far. How to stop its ravages nobody knows.

Held on Charge of Assault.
Edward Garner was yesterday held for the grand jury on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon by Judge Pugh, in the Police Court. Garner waived examination, pleaded not guilty and was committed to jail in default of bail.

A number of tools recovered from John Franklin Landrum, one of the two men convicted in the Police Court yesterday of disorderly conduct on an electric car, were to-day identified by James Burke as his property. Burke says they were stolen from a building where he is working south of the Highway Bridge. Landrum is now a planner in the city jail for thirty days.

Church, conducted the services.

LANCASTER CHOSEN
PRESIDENT AGAIN

Charles C. Lancaster, president of the Citizens' Northwest Suburban Association, ignored the action of the West Rock Creek Citizens Association in "protesting" against him, when he made an address at the annual election of his association last night in Masonic Temple, Tennallytown.

Representative William Richardson, of Alabama, expressed his disagreement with the Atlantic City convention of Presbyterians, who voted to "widen open" town, where vice ran free.

Other officers elected are Isaac E. Shoemaker, first vice president; Dr. John W. Chaplin, second vice president; Dr. William B. Ireland, third vice president; Louis P. Shoemaker, fourth vice president; J. J. Finch, fifth vice president; Alexander Yowell, treasurer; George R. Paine, secretary; F. W. Bangert, secretary-at-large.

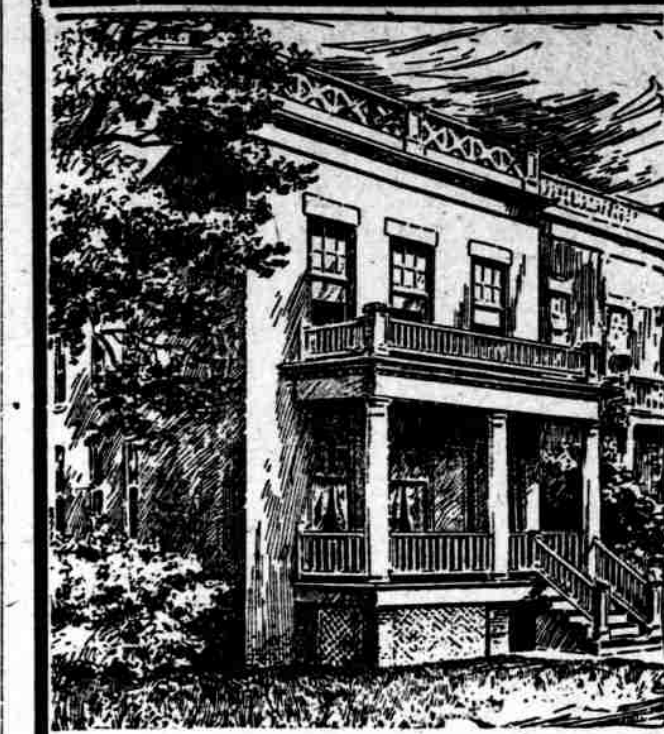

A resolution offered by Dr. Chaplin, endorsing the proposed investigation of the District government, was adopted.

JORDAN RESIGNS
AS TRUST HEAD

At a meeting of the board of directors of the United States Trust Company yesterday afternoon, the resignation of Eldridge E. Jordan as president of the institution was accepted. Expressions of regret were made by the members of the board at the resignation of Mr. Jordan.

C. W. Warden, vice president of the bank, was elected acting president. Officials of the bank refused to make statements regarding the cause of the resignation. Mr. Jordan said his resignation had not been the result of any personal feeling, but was due to the fact that the board of directors and himself were not in accord.

NEWS OF ALEXANDRIA

Principal Johnson, of Lee
Public School, Resigns.

Alexandria, Va., June 2.—Conrad Johnson, for the last two years principal of Lee public school, has tendered his resignation, to become effective at the end of this term.

The school board accepted his resignation with regret. There are several applicants for the position. The school board will fill the vacancy at its July meeting, when the annual election of teachers will be held. June 19 was the time decided upon for the beginning of the annual closing exercises of the four public schools in the city.
